ASX Announcement | 18 October 2017

Freelancer delivers cash receipts of A$12.5m, break-even operating cashflow of ($0.1m) for 3Q17 and positive year to date cash flow of $1.4m.

Wednesday, 18 October 2017 - Freelancer Limited (ASX: FLN), the world’s largest freelancing and crowdsourcing marketplace by total number of users and total number of jobs posted, today released its Quarterly Cash Flow Statement (Appendix 4C) for the quarter ending 30 September 2017 (Q3 2017).

Cash Receipts

In USD, the main operating currency of the group, cash receipts were up 2% year on year to $9,854k. USD represents approximately 75% of group cash receipts in YTD FY17 and 75% of group cash receipts in 3Q17.

Escrow.com has its second best quarter on record and strongest quarterly growth in five years for non-China volume

Escrow Gross Payment Volume (GPV) for the quarter was A$114m (US$90M) (unaudited), up 6% QoQ (3Q17 on 2Q17), making it the second best quarter on record for non-China volume in absolute terms at US$79.7m. Non-China volume was up sharply at 14% QoQ (3Q17 on 2Q17) in USD, which was the strongest quarterly growth in five years (since Q1 2012).
The euro currency was re-enabled in July 2017 after being disabled on 5th January 2017. Euro accounted for approximately 3% of GPV in 3Q17.

Automated payment matching is now live for inbound payments.

Outbound payments automation will be complete in 2-3 weeks (November). In Q4 we will complete moving outbound processing to the new Escrow administration system and implement a secondary approval system in addition to full automation of outbound payments to our banking partners.

Our processing times for Know Your Customer (KYC/AML Verification) have also been improving. After introducing the verification system to Escrow.com in Q1, submissions have naturally decreased but remain stable. Whilst the submission count rose a little over Q3, we also became much faster and attentive in processing these submissions. Around 80% of submissions were processed in under 30 minutes across Q3, up from 75% in Q2.
On 24 October 2017, Escrow.com will open the public beta of the new Escrow.com Platform API, which is a significant milestone for the company. The company will make a separate announcement to the ASX on this date.

In anticipation of an open beta for the new API, we have created a new developer portal with updated documentation and webhooks that makes it much easier for developers wishing to integrate Escrow into their websites or marketplaces.

Freelancer.com quality and retention efforts showing lift in key metrics

Freelancer continued to focus on quality and improving customer feedback in the quarter with the primary goal of improving user retention.

These efforts lifted retention, but did have a small impact to net customers’ receipts. These initiatives included:

- Membership fees were lower as we deliberately tightened up the subscription funnels to ensure that only customers that would achieve tangible value from memberships subscribe. This was approximately a (2%) drag on customer receipts for the quarter.

- We improved the refund policy to allow increase the ease and scope for refunds to customers with the goal of lifting retention and user experience. This impacted project fees and was a (1%) drag on customer receipts for the quarter.

The average AUD/USD exchange rate for Q3 was 0.7894 versus Q2 of 0.7508 providing a currency drag of approximately (4%) on AUD revenue.

Paid project fees have climbed through August, September and October to date as core funnel improvements were deployed in parallel with these changes. Improvements in the core funnel have lifted the project posted to milestone conversion rate back to mid-2016 (pre-‘1-click’) highs. Likewise we saw a lift in earnings paid for freelancers, with the most recent period rivalling the all-time high in May 2016.

In terms of collaboration, we completely refactored the hourly payment system to improve the user experience for our customers. The new system has less friction, and you pay only for hours worked as they are billed, rather than requiring an upfront payment to start work in the hourly model.

We also now support project sharing for both fixed price and hourly projects, as well as contest sharing, direct hire projects. We also support collaboration via group chat, which means you can invite anyone to your project, including those external to the website. We also have a new project completion experience where we collect more information, including more detailed customer feedback and Net Promoter Score.
Project sharing for fixed price, hourly, direct hire and contests is now live

The messaging system now supports rich messages, interactive messages and emojis- providing a better communications experience between employers, freelancers and support.

Mobile continues to experience tremendous growth with good projects posted up 62% YoY (3Q17/3Q16) with fees (unaudited) from mobile up 41% YoY (3Q17/3Q16).

The number of paid contests per quarter had a small hit in the quarter as we made changes to the core funnels to improve conversion which resulted in temporarily removing the contest upsells for certain categories of work in the project funnels. These are currently being re-added and will be back live again in Q4. Contest entries had a huge uplift, with over 100 entries on average per contest, an uplift of 33% from 2Q17.
Average number of contest entries per contest was up 33% in 3Q17/2Q17

We have changed the website to show the real name of freelancers instead of their usernames, with the aim of increasing the level of trust in the marketplace.

Real names are now shown in the Freelancer marketplace
Break-even operating 3Q17 cash flow of ($0.1m) and positive year to date (9 months) cash flow of $1.4m

Operating cash flow was effectively break-even in the quarter at ($0.1m). For the year to date, operating cash flow was positive at $1.4m. Unlike many Silicon Valley technology companies, the Company has followed a strategy of being not being deeply negative in terms of cash flow on an operating basis, to de-risk future growth. While cash flow was marginally negative on a year on year basis (2%) in AUD, it was positive on a USD constant currency basis +2%, the main operating currency of the group (84% of group cash receipts in FY17 YTD).

Marketing as a percentage of cash receipts continued to be remarkably low at 15.6%. It has been previously noted that for a Silicon Valley software business that this number can typically range between 50% to 100% of cash receipts.

As noted in previous releases, Salesforce spent 56% of its revenue on sales and marketing at the time it filed its S1 with the SEC in 2003. Workday similar reported 45% in its S1 and Hubspot had a 64% ratio when it went public. Box spent over 100% of its revenue on sales and marketing the year before it went public. Atlassian was lauded just before its IPO for being an “unusual outlier” at 21%¹.
